TELECOM ITALIA ENTERS CDP - CLIMATE DISCLOSURE LEADERSHIP INDEX ITALY

The Company has been recognised as one of the best companies in the Country for attention to climate change communications and strategies

Rimini, 5 November 2014

After achieving the recognition of “best in class” in the telecommunications sector, confirming its presence for the eleventh consecutive year in the Dow Jones Sustainability Indexes World (DJSI World) and Europe (DJSI Europe), Telecom Italia is now on the CDP Italy 100 Climate Disclosure Leadership Index (CDLI Italy), a sustainability index issued directly by the Carbon Disclosure Project, a not for profit organisation that is one of the most important internationally, engaged in the assessment of transparency in companies' dissemination of information on climate change.

CDLI Italy selects, from the companies listed on the FTSE MIB, FTSE Italia Small and Mid Cap, those that have shown a particularly pro-active approach to the disclosure of information on climate change. With a total score of 93 over 100, Telecom Italia is therefore one of the 11 leading companies in the field of sustainable innovation in 2014.

“The recognition received from CDLI Italy confirms the constant commitment of Telecom Italia to analysing and carefully assessing its own impact on climate change and in the development of technological and management solutions, for its own use and for use by its customers, and of strategies to enable it to be constantly reduced, through its constant search for energy efficiency and the use of sources of alternative energy” stated Marcella Logli, Head of Corporate Social Responsibility of the Telecom Italia Group and Secretary General of the Telecom Italia Foundation to the States General of the Green Economy taking place in Rimini as part of Ecomondo 2014, one of the most important Italian events in environmental sustainability. Telecom Italia participates in the States General of the Green Economy and Sustainable City, special Ecomondo projects, ensuring the transmission of a broad selection of appointments in live streaming and on demand on telecomitalia.com/ecomondoinweb (hashtag #greenwecan) with the aim of disseminating to the general public on the internet best practice in the corporate and institutional environment to promote the development of sustainable services and products that are close to the needs of the community.
